PRINCESS TO-DAY.

"The Square Deceiver" is a edy-drama of youth and love. Comedy is abundantly mixed with im pressive serious moments. The ever popular Harold Lockwood, as Billy Van Dyke, has a most congenial role. Van Dyke is a young multi-million aire, and his favor is much sought by fortune-hunting mothers of marringeable daughters. But Billy eludes them all, and in the guise of a chauffeur meets and wins his "dream girl," who loves him for himself alone. "The Square Deceiver" is by the auther of Harold Lockwood's former success, "The Haunted Pajamas."

TALENTED PLAYERS IN "LET'S GET A DIVORCE"

Many Screen Favorites of Prominen Support Billie Burke in This

Among the players supporting Bile Burke in her latest photo comedy, "Let's Get a Divorce," which is based upon Sardou's celebrated play, "Divorcons," are many screen players of prominence. These include John Miltern, Pinna Nesbit, Armand Kalise, Helen Tracey, nearly all of whom have been in other successes in which Miss Burke has appeared.

"Let's Get a Divorce" is a delightful comedy filled with thrilling situations, rapid fire dramatic action and the theme is one of the most convincing heart appeal. The scenes are laid in and about a convent in Southern France, and the picture was proluced under the direction of Charles Giblyn. It is delightful to the eye and satisfying to the sense. HISTORIC

HAS OUR COUNTY A BUILDING OVER 50 YEARS OLD WORTH A PLACE IN HISTORY?

We have been asked by the Couier-Journal at Louisville, which is elebrating its semi-centenary by publishing interesting historical facts about every section of the State, to give our people an opportunity to select the oldest and most historical building in this county.

The Courier-Journal will print pie tures and brief sketches of those chosen for the different counties. These will appear daily during this ummer and fall, in a series of 120 articles—one to each county—en titled, "What Kentucky Has Done n the Past Fifty Years," concluding with the issue of November 8, which is the Courier-Journal's Golden Juitlee day, having on November 8, 18,68, succeeded the Louisville Daily Journal, which was started in 1830, the Louisville Daily Democrat, begun in 1843, and the Morning Courier, first issued in 1844.

The Courier-Journal wants for the article on our county a picture of and brief story about the oldest building -church, school, home, business or Government structure.

Use the coupon below. Fill it out, write plainly with pen or pencil, and bring or mail to our office on or before June 15.

We will announce in our paper, as soon as the coupons have been canvassed, the building found to be the oldest in the county. The Courier-Journal will furnish us with a half-tone ilustration together with the article to appear on our county, and we will reproduce these imme diately following their appearance in the Courier-Journal. Three leading citizens of our county will be asked by us to canvass the coupons when all are in. In case of a tie, this committee will make a choice and the decision will be final.
